

Full success for EcoIntense at the trade fair Arbeitsschutz Aktuell

Strong business performance boosts the growth of the well-established software company

Berlin, September 2, 2014 – The international safety and health trade fair Arbeitsschutz Aktuell was a great success for EcoIntense, confirming the positive business development of the past months and generating further growth. From August 25 to August 28 EcoIntense showcased the latest release of the software EcoWebDesk 7.0 in Frankfurt am Main, Germany. The trade fair and congress attracted over 11,000 safety and health professionals with a bunch of them visiting the EcoIntense booth. At the new-designed booth the visitors learned about the advantages and highlights of the user-friendly HSE software (Health, Safety & Environment). During the press event Managing Director Markus Becker informed the journalists about the new software features and announced current business figures.

The positive outcome of the trade fair contributes to the successful development in 2014. With an increase of more than 115 % in in the past eight months, the number of incoming orders was more than doubled as compared to the same period of the preceding year.

The number of employees has also been continuously rising – currently the company employs over 45 specialists. Due to these positive developments EcoIntense will move in October into new premises with over 2,100 square meters of office space.
